Teaching you more about colour

As we want children through our workshops to create positive useful habits for their life, I have chosen to offer fresh juice using fruits and vegetable with orange colour vibration, as I want them to learn that they can tune into the colour energy they need even through the food they eat. Colour is a vital energy for sustenance on this earth, and every colour has a unique effect on humans. The orange colour will be helping children have more energy, with an emotional uplifting and joyful effect.
